Subject: 555 Cordwainer Drive water main source question

Dear Mr. McInnis:

Thank you for your response to our previous email dated August 30th regarding the High Street 56-unit residential housing project.. One more concern we have is the 54 unit residential Anthemion Senior Lifestyle memory care community under construction at 555 Cordwainer Drive in Norwell.. This project is directly behind our house at 121 High Street and our neighbor at 119 High Street..

Is this development tied into the same water main as High Street? We are again concerned if this construction will have any effect on the High Street water pressure in addition to the proposed building of the High Street 40B.

Many thanks for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Bonnie & Randy Holmes
121 High Street
